BUILDING PROCESS

Avondale means many things to many people. Experiences are shared, but the impact of these experiences is different for each one of us. Avondale aims at providing these experiences in order that we may build every aspect of our lives as preparation for the future.

It provides us with the opportunity to develop socially - building friendships that last not only now, but often for a life-time; and developing our ability to share with others.

At Avondale we are also provided with experiences which help us build physically - not only our bodies, but also to creatively construct by using our minds and our hands.

Avondale also aims to help us build our minds - continually providing us with opportunities to expand our minds and hence increase their capacity for growth.

But most importantly, all of these experiences, and indeed Avondale itself, are built on the foundation of Jesus Christ - no-one can ever lay any other real foundation.

And so we grow - building on the foundation of Jesus Christ and using the experiences Avondale provides us with to build our lives through the present, for the future.

FOUNDATION

"No-one can lay any foundation
Other than the one already laid
Which is Jesus Christ," 1 Cor. 3:11, NIV
So Avondale builds character
Equips for life
Prepares for service
On The Chosen and Precious Foundation,
Believing "the one who trusts in him
Will never be put to shame," Peter 2:6, NIV

Conditions and facilities of a modern metropolis merge almost incongruously with the still apparent traditional lifestyle. On a multi-laned highway you may see a horse trailing a mail cart; or, surrounding an extensive subway shopping complex, make-shift markets and homeless beggars lining the streets.

Statistics confirm Korea as having the greatest population density in the world. One is reminded of this on any bus or subway journey. This truly must be experienced to be believed. There is no space to permit chest expansion, and you question which limbs are your own. Not until humanity is lined from floor to ceiling, do the conductors consider maximum capacity has been utilised. And even then, there is always room for just 30 more! Fighting one's way through the elevator at school every day is a challenge in itself. At each floor approximately 40 push themselves in and perhaps one or two depart.

Challenges are an integral part of life in Korea, both for the indigenous and the foreigners. The people have much to be proud of, and it is a pleasure to be able to reach out to the people in this changing society.

For an SM, when the plane first touches down at the airport, a new and exciting life has begun. The opportunities are limitless. The work is interesting, and the English students come from all walks of life. It is part of SM life to be taken for various sightseeing tours around the country, to dine out at exclusive restaurants, and to be profusely bestowed with an assortment of gifts - there is no limit to these hospitalities.

Yet student missionary work plays a dominant role in one's own growth also, as the experience provides what a tertiary institution cannot. It is no exaggeration to say that SM life must be experienced to be believed. (I won't deny there's an element of ambiguity in that statement!) The experience encompasses every aspect of living, and your horizons are forever broadened.

For more information... become an SM! You'll be glad you did. (Now where have I heard that line before...?)

John O'Brien SM, Daegu City, South Korea.

Avondale College is my future. The knowledge I acquire here will decide my career for life. The friends I make here will be friends for life. And the God that College is based upon can be the God of my life.

College is more than just classes, caf, and chaffs. To me it has become a relationship: with the people around me, it has become a relationship of discovering new friends, and getting to better know the old ones; with the person inside me, it has become a relationship between everything I've been taught as a child, and new concepts which others try to teach me.

The relationship however, which makes Avondale special, is that between Modern Education and the Master Educator - Jesus Christ. It is obvious to me that "Education in Christ" has become the theme of this institution.

I realize that the life I live daily is not the life I should be living, but if there is ever an influence strong enough to change that situation, then that influence is Avondale College.

I've had doubts in the past, and I daresay I will have more in the future, about what I'm achieving here, but when I weigh up the alternatives there really is no other choice for me.

I'm not saying that College is a place for instantaneous conversion. I am however saying that College is the place for those, like me, who want the opportunity to develop spiritually as well as mentally, physically and socially.

Campus Ministry '83 is a student organized and operated body aiming to serve the spiritual needs of all Avondale students both individually and as a collective body. To achieve this, we aim at meeting the various spiritual needs by co-ordinating a number of spiritual programmes both on and off Campus, to serve our worshipping community and to provide opportunity for involvement and outreach.

Already this year, we have enjoyed a variety of fellowship experiences: an Agape Feast; feature worship; a retreat to climax the Week of Prayer with Dr. Bailey Gillespie; and "Afterglow" discussions following Vespers. Many students are finding new ways of sharing Christ in street-preaching, Church visitations or running a Vacation Bible School.

In the truest sense we are seeking to catch a "greater vision" in the sphere of need and of mission. Campus Ministry is seeking to inspire and commit students in the task of service to others in which true meaning and reality in life exist.

Avondale Singers Group - Crater Lake, U.S.A.

Golden Gate Bridge . . . snow six metres deep at Crater Lake . . . the towering granite of Yosemite . . . Disneyland . . . these are indelible memories of choir tour, 1983, when the Avondale Singers accomplished their most ambitious schedule ever - a three-week itinerary of the west coast of the United States. They will always remember the tears in people's eyes as they sang "Who Is This Man?", the standing ovation from a congregation unaccustomed to applaud, the late-night hospitality of the families in whose homes they stayed, and the baffled amusement of shop assistants at their strange Australian accents.

The Singers travelled 5,000 km through the states of California, Oregon and Washington, giving fifteen recitals, mainly in Adventist Churches. The tour also included visits to Walla Walla College, Pacific Union College and Loma Linda University.

The Singers were acclaimed in America with a warmth beyond all expectation. Audiences praised the expressiveness of their singing, the clarity of their tone and diction, and the maturity and musical interest of their repertoire. There was special praise for the supporting instrumentalists - Howard Fisher (recorder), Brendan Collins (trombone) and Susan Collins (violin).

After the jet-lag and deadening weariness have long been forgotten, Alan Thrift and his Singers will have very good reason to be satisfied.

Plans - new college church

Adequate funding for necessary development and successful operating, is a major problem for tertiary educational institutions, but especially for private colleges. Massive increases in operating costs have made it very difficult to upgrade facilities, to plan urgently needed buildings, and to inaugurate new courses designed to meet society's rapidly changing demands.

Some time ago, whilst talking, Pr. Lance Butler, Australasian Division Treasurer, and Mr. Lyn Knight, Director of the National Fund Raising Council of Australia, conceived the idea of an Avondale College Foundation.

The present membership of the Foundation is over 600, each member bringing significant professional ability to the Foundation as well as giving prodigally of their time, without any financial returns for themselves, for the benefit of the College.

The Foundation's income at present derives from three sources:

1. its capital investments
2. a wholesale plant nursery
3. a pathology/laboratory service

To date the Foundation has made possible the erection of the Chemistry building, two married student units, a security system for the library and three terminals for the new computer. It has also provided a bus for the transport of the College students and made available to the members of the faculty research grants for approved projects. All these items represent financial support in excess of $400,000.

The Foundation's current project reveals the vision and confidence of its Board. Recognizing the very real need of a church at Avondale College, the Foundation has pledged itself to raise $500,000 and to match that figure, dollar for dollar, to a grand total of $1,000,000.

Thank God for Avondale College Foundation.

Work Program

Avondale . . . hmm . . . as a nursing student I haven't had the time to enjoy it as much as I would have liked . . . they work us to the bone you know. (smile)

But I could spend hours telling you how much I've enjoyed it!

Watching every sunrise as it plays hide and seek with the mist in the paddocks (I cook breakfast in the caf) and later going for a walk or bike ride along Dora Creek . . . exploring trails and dirt tracks . . . learning about the plants and animals unique to Australia.

Attending lectures that are thought provoking, mind boggling, boring, but always complementing the next subject, and fitting together beautifully, so that I occasionally have the satisfaction of knowing what the lecturer is talking about.

And then the weekends . . . going to Sydney and sharing Christ with other Churches . . . singing for a program and wondering what possessed me to do it . . . closing Sabbath with friends - and then deciding whether to study, go to Kamahl's concert, or spend the evening in Newcastle.

The biggest joy is in the friends I've met. . . cramming for tests together . . . passing a test and celebrating at the Oak . . . nearly drowning in the rain storms that often bless our Sabbath walks . . . and loving it! . . . gasping and puffing in time to jazz gymnastics . . . pigging out on home cooked food and enjoying a real house again . . . finding Faculty who really care . . .

The list is endless . . . yes . . . Avondale is definitely worth smiling about.

EXPANSION

Between the times of registration and graduation, there exists a dimension of life that involves all students: the social dimension. Here we see how people go about transforming the word "them" into the word "us". We see different people joining together to form the Avondale family; building friendships that last not only at Avondale, but often through a life-time.

Go to Avondale? . . . oh, I don't know . . .

I arrived lost, confused, unsure if I'd enjoy myself, and worried that maybe I had made the wrong decision.

Now what has happened? Can I look back after a year of college life and see that Avondale is the right place for me? Answer? Affirmative!

For me, Avondale has provided a completely different factor in my life - one which I hope never to lose. Friendships widen - not only around the country, but also around the world. Studies progress at high levels - seriously, with fulfilment, but never without timely deviations for the odd stir or two for preservation of sanity. Most importantly, spiritual growth is evident. Knowledge of our Maker and His Word lead to a stabilising of our Christian experience - you find that rather than talking of God, you talk to God.

Is Avondale good for young people? Yes. I feel - or hope - that I myself have become a better person, more capable and of more value to those around me. Have I changed? No, only grown - more enriched in character and spirit.

Is Avondale worth it? DEFINITELY.

Spectators

The Student Activities Committee (S.A.C.) is part of the Avondale Student Faculty Association (A.S.F.A.) and is, as such, responsible for organising and running various activities for the students. Some of these activities have included Beach Nights, Men's and Women's Talent Nights and Breakfast Banquets.

Yet, there is a much wider range of student interests than S.A.C. can provide for. To cater for these other interests, there are a number of clubs which involve a majority of students in a variety of activities.

Some students extend their activities off-Campus to sailing and water skiing on Lake Macquarie, hang-gliding with Dr. Jim Hanson, or just a relaxing game of golf at Morisset.

Whatever a student's interests, chances are that there are others here who share that interest. Clubs provide students with the opportunity not only to enjoy an activity, but also to share that enjoyment with others.

CONNECTION

What a tremendously complex thing the mind is. Psychologists, neuro-surgeons, psychiatrists and educators have tried to plumb its intricacies and explain its workings, and yet a full account is still pending. But we do know that as the mind is challenged, as ideas are grasped and meaning perceived, this remarkable organ accomplishes some amazing feats. Avondale College provides these kinds of challenges. In the classroom, in the library, in the laboratory and workshop, whether discussing, experimenting, listening, reading, calculating or composing, the Avondale student has opportunities for sharpening and expanding the mental faculties.

As I am currently a student at Avondale, I see myself in the unique position of being able to look back at my first impressions of College while also being able to imagine what my lasting impressions of it will be.

As I drove down College Drive for the first time, a sensation of awe, bordering on reverence, came over me as I forced myself to believe that I was actually at Avondale - the place about which I had heard so much. My predominant impressions at this stage could have been described by such words as minuteness, estrangement and alienation - I guess such feelings were inevitable.

Just as inevitable though were the changes the Avondale environment and spirit made to those initial impressions - softening and dulling them to such an extent that I believe my enduring impressions of Avondale will be a definite contrast to those initial impressions. I envisage my lasting impressions involving such memories as the uplifting and Christian friendships developed here in times of fun and fellowship as well as sadness and hard work; important spiritual insights gained from Christian friends and lecturers; and the concomitant learning that comes from associating with other "Avondalians" making up the great Avondale experience!

GLENN - SALES MANAGER

Without Glenn the Jac team would never have been what it was. Thanks Glenn for always being there to say "Yes" when we needed it, and for making countless journeys to the canteen to get our sustenance for the evening's work.

Thanks too for the great job you and the Sales Team have done this year in promoting 'our' book - it would never have been the same without you.

(Absent: Sid Nicholas - S.A.H.) Brett GOODS

Special Thanks to Brett Allen, Darlene Blagden, Peter Lindsay, Cheryl Pate, and Janet Powell for their invaluable assistance in completing this production. Thanks also to Dr. Currie for all the work he has put in behind the scenes.

SALES TEAM

MEL - EDITOR

Mel - our heroic leader who watched in a state of revered awe as Jacaranda began to take shape, and when the going got tough . . . played golf to calm himself down. Mel is dedicated to four things - Jacaranda (of course), basketball, ACQUIRE, and Cheryl, though not necessarily in that order. But his dedication to Jacaranda has been much appreciated by the rest of the team. And if nothing else, we will remember Mel's answer to our most vital questions - Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha . . .

JENNY - LITERARY EDITOR

Jenny - talented . . . always around except when you need her . . . especially fond of chocolate Cornettos . . . birthplace of the inspiration which gave us our theme.

Your choice of authors, imaginative compilation, and selection of articles has been much appreciated. Thanks for the laughs, and the effort you put into Jacaranda.

DAVE - PHOTOGRAPHER

What can you say about Dave - the guy who always managed to come up with a better way of doing something; the same guy who caught people at their best - and worst!; and the same guy who could be seen jumping around the Jac room late at night, to the strains of Kim Carnes.

For your great ideas, Dave, and for your truly great photography, we say thanks.

GENIA - LAYOUT

"OK . . . Yeah . . . alright . . . that'll be good." Gen's creative genius held each of us spellbound as she created Jacaranda page by page. We will always remember Gen sitting . . . thinking . . . drawing . . . thinking . . . drawing . . . sitting. Thanks Gen for all the creative energy you put into your work and for making Jacaranda what it is today.

MARTY WILLIS - FACULTY ADVISOR

There to advise and support, always encouraging, and reliable.

Marty's experience and ideas were an invaluable addition to Jac '83.

Thanks Marty, for your help. Sorry about Jen, but they say there's one in every bunch.

Sydney Adventist Hospital School of Nursing, in association with Avondale College, offers a three-year Diploma of Applied Science (Nursing) to prepare young Christians to meet modern standards and demands in health care. It's an exciting program. Whichever way you look at it, in terms of nurse training, it's the tops. The atmosphere of Avondale College to start with, followed by an intensive course of practical study at the superbly equipped Sydney Adventist Hospital, is enough by itself to recommend the course. But when you also consider the Christian element, that hard-to-define but essential factor in 'true' nursing and caring, then the proposition becomes all the more attractive. If you are the type of person who wants to share your life with others, then you should not hesitate in applying for more information.

WRITE TO: The Director, School of Nursing, Sydney Adventist Hospital, 185 Fox Valley Road, Wahroonga, 2076, or The Registrar, Avondale College, Cooranbong, 2265. NSW.
